

100 DEAD IN WORST PENNA. MINE ACCIDENT IN YEARS

D. & H. Company Tunnel Near Wilkesbarre
Becomes Horrible Death Trap as Sparks
From Trolley Set Off Car of Powder.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 5.—In one of the worst mine accidents in the anthracite coal fields in years probably 100 men lost their lives when a car of black powder exploded in the Baltimore No. 2 tunnel of the Delaware and Hudson company early today. The latest official list shows 71 dead and 35 in hospitals severely injured. Officials say that this list is not complete and the deaths are expected to increase from those injured dying.

Men On Way To Work.

The accident happened shortly before seven o'clock, while the men were being taken to their places of employment. A trip of empty cars was provided to convey them. John C. McGreevy was driving. In the cars the 100 men were crowded and near the rear of the trip was a car of black powder.

When 200 feet inside the tunnel, the electric trolley wire fell. Sparks from it ignited the powder and the explosion that followed blew the men in all directions. More men died from flames and suffocation than from the force of the explosion. The explosion was terrific. It was felt in parts of the city and was heard for miles around. When rescuers got into the tunnel dead men were found everywhere.

Some were burned almost to a crisp. Here and there were others moaning and crying. Within an hour and a half the injured had been removed. The dead were brought to the surface and placed in tiers along the green. Doctors and nurses had been called early but it was difficult to get a big force. The hospitals began to crowd. The morgues were filled.

Bodies Badly Mangled.

Identification of the dead is almost impossible. Many of the bodies that have been taken to the morgues are so badly charred that the scores of relatives who wended their way among the rows of corpses were unable to identify fathers, brothers and sons. Many of the injured died, after being recovered from the tunnel, and the death list increases hourly. As the injured were taken from the mine to wait ambulances, they were placed in long rows.

Arms were blown from the bodies of men. Some had their heads blown off. The limbs of others were found among the wreckage of human life and property. The fire was intense while it lasted. Siphon tubes and men dropped like flies along the tunnel. There were heavy raining scenes. Hundreds of people were among the dead, trying to find relatives.

At 10 o'clock the morgues reported 80 bodies were being prepared for burial. This does not make up the death list because the bodies of others have been taken to their homes.

FIND BODY OF MRS. LOUISE VALLI

Woman Who Disappeared From West Park May 12 Had Long Been Dead—Found One and One-half Miles From Home.

West Park, June 5.—Mrs. Louise Valli, who disappeared from the home of her son, Frank Valli, at West Park on Monday, May 12, was found about one mile and a half from her late home yesterday afternoon. Early yesterday morning some of her clothing was found by two men of Hawley's Corners, who at once notified her relatives of this place. Ever since May 12 relatives, neighbors and friends have been searching the woods and also the Black Creek, hoping the body would be found, as her disappearance was a great worry to her family. When the body was found it was very much decomposed. Coroner Kelly of Kingston was notified, and arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

WHEN BAND WILL GIVE CONCERTS

The Board of Public Works has entered into a contract with the Colonial City Band, along similar lines to that of last season for music at Kingston Point Park and the other amusement resorts of the city. Under the terms of the contract the band will render concerts each Sunday afternoon and evening at Kingston Point Park. On and after July 1, the band will play both afternoon and evening at Kingston Point Park, with the exception of certain afternoons to be designated by the board when the band will play at McVey's Field and Forsyth Park. Monday is the day of rest for the musicians, and no concerts will be given on that day throughout the season.

Education Law—Nominated By
D. A. B.

Mayor Canfield has appointed Judge A. T. Clearwater, historian of the city of Kingston. This is a new position which has been provided for by an amendment to the state education law passed this year. Judge Clearwater becomes the first official historian of the city. William C. Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, nominated Judge Clearwater to Mayor Canfield for appointment to such position. Following is the letter of Judge Clearwater accepting the new position:

June 3rd, 1919.
To Hon. Palmer Canfield, Jr.,
Mayor of the City of Kingston.

My Dear Mr. Mayor:
I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter tendering me the appointment of historian for the city of Kingston under the recent act of the legislature directing such an appointment in all the cities of the state, and to say that I deeply appreciate the honor.

There are few cities in the country of more important and illustrious history than Kingston, and I shall endeavor to do what may be in my power to transmit to remote posterity the record of its distinguished past.

With many kind regards, I am, as ever,
Very sincerely yours,
A. T. CLEARWATER.

BURGER MAKES FIRST ARREST

Finds Charles Snyder of Linderman
Avenue Parking His Car in Front of Fire Hydrant—Other Cases in Police Court.

Officer Guernsey Burger, one of the three new policemen who assumed their duties on Decoration Day, made his first arrest this morning when he found Charles Snyder of No. 65 Linderman avenue had parked his automobile in front of a fire hydrant on Fair street, near North Front street. Mr. Snyder pleaded guilty before Judge Schrick, and as it was the first time he had ever been arrested he was discharged with a warning.

Fred Dahlem, a taxi driver, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Officer Walker for driving his taxi 27 miles an hour on Broadway. He pleaded guilty this morning and paid a $3 fine.

Samuel Affron was also arrested by Officer Walker on North Front street, Wednesday afternoon for driving 25 miles an hour. He also pleaded guilty this morning.

William Frederickson of New York city, and Leo McKenzie of Malone, both young men, were arrested Wednesday by Detective Goodsell of the West Shore force, on a charge of train riding. They were on their way from New York to the Adirondacks where they expected to land a job in a mountain house. They were given a chance to leave town.

IN THE SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY

Judson Barrett of the 78th (Lighting) Division, has been honorably discharged from the army and has returned to his home at 24 Havens street. Barrett was in the ambulance corps and had many thrilling experiences. He had been overseas 11 months, and served in the Meuse and Argonne campaigns.

Mrs. William Rose of Lucas avenue received a telephone message on Wednesday from her son, Cook Rose, well known of the 303rd Motor Supply Company, 78th Division, telling of his safe arrival in the good old U. S. A. Cook Rose has been thirteen months' service in France, and expects to go to Camp Dix returning to his home in this city as soon as he receives his honorable discharge.

Sherman Barley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Barley of Lyonsville, has returned from serving with the colors overseas. Mr. Barley left Lyonsville for Camp Dix in November, 1917, and started overseas from Philadelphia on May 28th, 1918, and landed in Liverpool, England, after which he served in the capacity of wagoner and later cook in Co. F, 303rd Ammunition train, seeing active service in Toul, St. Julien, Meuse and Argonne. He went through the thickest of the fighting without even a minor injury, although at times he barely escaped death. Mr. Barley is 24 years of age and is proud of having served his country in the greatest conflict the world has ever known.

Mr. Barley was mustered out of service at Camp Dix on May 28th, 1919, after serving nearly 21 months. He is receiving the congratulations of his many friends for his remarkable record.

CITIZENS BENEFIT FROM WAR CHEST

Seven Soliciting Campaigns Avoided —Perfect Understanding Reached
With Industrial Workers By Publicity Speakers—War Chest Again Explained.

The War Chest has been conducting a publicity campaign amongst the factories and industrial plants during Wednesday and today. No money or pledges were solicited, the object of the campaign being to impress upon the workers the imperative War Chest needs. About thirty different plants were visited.

The local speakers were Lieutenant Rudolph Dittus, Eugene B. Carey and John M. Cashin, all of whom saw service.

The other speakers were Captain Herbert E. Young, of the Salvation Army who also saw service in a U. S. military uniform, and Captain Louise G. Young, his sister, who returned from overseas on Friday, and Mrs. Henry Davidson, who was connected with the transport work. Captain Louise G. Young served about nineteen months in France, Belgium and Germany, and was with the First Division at every offensive in which it participated. After doing their bit in the service, these men and women are anxious that those at home do their bit and maintain the prestige of Kingston in connection with its war work.

The workers in the various factories resolved to continue the payments of their pledges. When they were asked as to their position they practically unanimously decided not to treat but to make good on their pledges. As a result of this campaign a better understanding will doubtless exist, and the workers will feel conscious that they have performed their part and lived up to their obligations.

The workers were started out by Mayor Canfield, who is president of the War Chest, and William C. De Witt and Thomas J. Comerford, and although the weather was anything but desirable for the purpose, they maintained their schedule to reach their objective, and their enthusiasm did not diminish at any time.

The purpose of the war chest was to raise a city and county fund to be used for the relief of the unemployed, and to provide for the needs of the community. The war chest was organized on December 1, 1918, and has since that time been working for the relief of the unemployed and for the needs of the community.

The national war agencies included are Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, V. W. C. A., Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association. The quota for the city and county for these organizations which were included in the united war work fund was the sum of $105,000, which is being paid monthly by the war chest.

The local agencies helped are the Ulster County Home Defense Committee, the Kingston City Hospital, the Benedictine Sanitarium, Industrial Home, Y. M. C. A., Boy Scouts as a county organization, County Library Committee, County Agency for Dependent Children, and Ulster County Welcoming Committee. The war chest does not include any membership in any organization.

During the latter part of May a campaign was waged all over the nation to raise $12,000,000 for the home service or local needs of the Salvation Army. The quota for Kingston and the county was $5,500. The campaign could have been carried on in this city and county and everyone would have been asked to give something, but the war chest has taken care of the city and county quota, making it unnecessary to have the expense and trouble of a campaign here and also saving everyone being solicited.

The war chest has eliminated seven campaigns by including them in its budget. The war chest campaign was held during the week of November 11 last and about $200,000 was pledged in the country. Of this, as stated above, $125,000 must be paid to the war agencies above mentioned. The balance is absolutely needed for the other agencies included in the war chest.

There had been a tendency amongst industrial workers not to realize the importance of keeping their pledges. The great majority of them were not attempting to keep their pledges. If the pledges are not generally kept the war chest will fall down in its pledges and sacrifices. This will mean that other campaigns will be necessary to make up for the loss.

100 WORKERS FOR BOY SCOUT WEEK

Chairman Canfield Outlines Aims and Progress of Campaign for Organized Boyhood—To Organize Scouts All Over County.

Under the chairmanship of Mayor Canfield, over one hundred men and women in the city and throughout the county are mobilizing for the part this community is to play in the great nation-wide "Boy Scout Week" to be conducted from June 8 to Flag Day, June 14, in recognition of the remarkable services rendered by the Boy Scouts of America during the war.

This seven-day demonstration, unique in the annals of drives, was urged by the president of the United States himself, in a proclamation issued earlier in the week. It will aim to focus the attention of the public on the program of the movement, and awaken communities everywhere to the influence of Scouting on the boyhood of the nation.

Parades, pageants, masques and stunts of a thousand varieties will be staged in the big cities and remote country hamlets alike, and talks on the true worth of Scouting will be given in churches, schools, and other public places. Special moving pictures are now being filmed with Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin and other leading screen stars as principals and these will be shown in theaters everywhere.

Never before in the history of the Scout movement has anything been attempted on so great a scale, said Chairman Canfield when asked for a word of comment on the coming drive.

"We want to project the light of public attention on the Boy Scouts of America as a movement which has grown to be the largest of its kind, the world has ever known, a brotherhood of organized boyhood which builds solidly for the future, which prepares the young of today for the responsibilities of citizenship tomorrow."

The work of the scouts during the war brought out the fact that boys are no longer negligible factors in the active life of the country. By selling $300,000,000 worth of Liberty Bonds, $50,000,000 worth of War Saving Stamps, locating 20,000,000 feet of walnut lumber for the War Department, collecting thousands of barrels of pits for the government and cooperating with war against agencies of every nature, they proved their mettle and established themselves high in the favor of the nation.

In the rush of events and the urgency of immediate demands of various emergencies, the accomplishments of the boys did not stand out as amazingly as they would in ordinary times. But the big men and women of the country are determined that the contributions of the Boy Scouts shall not be forgotten. They are banding themselves into a mighty organization of gratitude to express their appreciation of what they did, to erect a supporting auxiliary membership and a sufficient leadership that will insure the future growth and development of the movement.

"Kingston and Ulster County is to be reorganized, and field representatives from the National Council will come here this month to place Ulster County on the plane it should occupy in the Boy Scout movement. The county will then organize as a unit with the city and all the towns acting together. The boys of the towns will have the opportunity for the first time of being connected with a Boy Scout organization with a Boy Scout Executive at its head."

WHY THE STREETS ARE NOT OILED

Shipments Are Delayed—10,000
Gallons On the Way—Public Works Board Using Every Effort to Hurry Delivery.

The Board of Public Works is besieged with requests to oil the city streets, but the work is being delayed by the delay in shipments of oil. At the present time 10,000 gallons are somewhere along the way, and Superintendent Van Heusen has been using both telephone and telegraph to hurry delivery.

The board is just as anxious to complete the work of oiling the streets, as accidents are to have the work done, but can do nothing until the oil arrives.

Some of the streets have been oiled, and oil for the remainder of the streets was ordered several weeks ago, and is expected to arrive daily. As soon as received it will be spread.

President Herbert of Chamber of Commerce Announces Building Similar To That of Factory Corporation Will Be Finished By October 1st—Chamber Secured Funds For Corporation—No Trouble Anticipated in Securing Tenants Who Will Employ Male Labor.

"I am exceedingly glad to be able to announce this morning that a new factory building will be constructed at once on the Kingston Factory Corporation property on Cornell street," is the good news for Kingston from President Joseph M. Herbert, of the Chamber of Commerce. President Herbert said further:

The plans for this building are being prepared. Construction work will commence shortly and the building will be completed on or before October 1. It will be almost identical in design with the present factory corporation building, being a two story structure of brick construction, 50 by 135 feet.

Developments now pending may make it possible to put up immediately two new buildings instead of one. We very much hope that this will be done.

ARREST TWO ON THEFT CHARGE

Mason Basch and Louis Sampson, Arrested By Sergeant Phinney On Charge of Stealing Hides From Roach Brothers—Adjudged To Monday.

A sensation downtown today was the arrest early this morning of Mason Basch and Louis Sampson, a negro, by Sergeant Phinney on a charge of stealing hides from the storehouse of Roach Brothers on Ann street. Later in the morning Commissioner Roach of the water board appeared in police court, and a charge of grand larceny in the second degree was lodged against the two men. Bail was fixed at $750 which Basch furnished, while the negro was making efforts to secure some one to go his bail at the time this was written. A hearing in the case was adjourned to Monday morning.

From the story as told by Commissioner Roach the theft of hides has been going on for about six months, and the loss is estimated at fully $1,000. They had no suspicion as to who the thief was. Wednesday Basch appeared at the plant and said that he had a small farm outside the city and was going to keep some pigs and wanted some entrails to feed them. He asked if he could secure a barrel of the entrails this morning.

He was informed that he could. After he left Commissioner Roach said that he had his men dump the barrel out and under the entrails were found six hides, valued at $5.50 each. They were replaced in the barrel as found and the police notified.

Early this morning Sergeant Phinney went to the scene and laid a trap. As Basch drove out of the yard he asked Basch what was in the barrel and Basch replied it contained entrails. Sergeant Phinney had Basch drive back in the yard. The barrel was dumped and the hides found.

The sergeant then placed Basch under arrest. Sampson, the negro, was an employee at the plant, and he was also arrested. According to the police the negro confessed, and said that he went 50-50 on the proceeds of the sale of the hides with Basch. Some interesting testimony will likely be offered at the hearing Monday.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Mrs. Emmeline Hoore was removed from No. 54 Murray street to the Kingston City Hospital in the ambulance Wednesday.

Mrs. James Van Wareson of Brooklyn, formerly of Kingston, is visiting at the home of Fred DuBois on Furnace street.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Wells of No. 72 Cedar street are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son, William Joseph.

Miss Helen Harms of Clinton avenue, with Miss Ethel Wood, is spending her vacation in Berkshire Hills, Massachusetts, with Mrs. Kendrick.

Miss Florence Neatly of No. 777 Broadway, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis at the Kingston City Hospital on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mann of Hone street are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, Adelle Sura, at the Kinross Sanitarium.

It is the business of the Chamber of Commerce to remove obstacles to the development of Kingston. Lack of available factory buildings is right now the most serious obstacle to the industrial development of Kingston. It has been the only thing that has stood in the way of bringing here before this time at least two of the well established concerns with which the Chamber of Commerce has been negotiating.

With this in view we turned naturally to the precedent established here some years ago by the Chamber of Commerce when it secured the organization of the Kingston Factory Corporation which erected the present industrial or "Incubator" building on Cornell street, now occupied by Haysradt & Case and the Fessenden Shirt Company.

We conferred with President Cook and the directors of the factory corporation. We found them favorably inclined toward the construction of additional buildings.

The Chamber of Commerce then agreed to secure for the factory corporation the necessary funds to finance this new construction. The result is that we can this morning announce one new building, and we strongly hope to be able to have the second new building also completed this year.

We can safely say on the basis of negotiations now in progress, and which were described in Mr. Kingston's statement yesterday, that there will be no trouble in filling these buildings with substantial concerns employing chiefly male labor and coming here without receiving or requesting any bonus.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Miss Bridget Geoghan was held from the funeral parlors of Undertaker J. M. Murphy, No. 174 Broadway, Wednesday morning and thence to St. Mary's Church where a Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Miss Mary Fay, daughter of Patrick and Margaret Fay, died at the residence of her parents in East Kingston Wednesday evening. She is survived by her parents, two sisters, Anna and Margaret, and two brothers, Stephen of East Kingston, and John, now with the Army of Occupation. Michael Francis Fay, who died in France in October last, was also a brother. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Catherine Derrnbacher, widow of Peter Derrnbacher, died Wednesday evening at her home, No. 54 Spring street, aged 83 years. Mrs. Derrnbacher had been a resident of Kingston since her 11th birthday. She was probably one of the best known of the older residents of the city. She was a remarkable woman in many ways, having up to about six months ago been possessed of practically all her faculties, and she greatly enjoyed discussing with the younger generation the news and events of the day of which she was a close student. She was a woman of Christian character and of jovial disposition and was known to her host of friends as "Grannie" Derrnbacher. She was noted as a cook, and her cookies and cakes will never be forgotten by those who had the pleasure of eating any. Although advanced in years she was an intelligent talker on events of the past as well as the present. She was a devoted member of St. Peter's Church and a member of the Christian Mothers' Society of the church. Two sons, William and John Henry, three daughters, Mrs. C. Riser, Mrs. A. Huber and Mrs. Carrie Derrnbacher, survive, together with 21 grandchildren, five of whom are sisters of "Grannie," and 15 great-grandchildren. Her husband died about thirteen years ago. In the death of Mrs. Derrnbacher a great loss has been sustained.

Mrs. Evelyn Pantanus of 142 Denbigh street, has arranged a Mass of requiem for the soul of her husband, Mr. Pantanus, who died at the Kingston City Hospital on Wednesday.

Miss Florence Neatly of No. 777 Broadway, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis at the Kingston City Hospital on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mann of Hone street are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, Adelle Sura, at the Kinross Sanitarium.

Miss Helen Harms of Clinton avenue, with Miss Ethel Wood, is spending her vacation in Berkshire Hills, Massachusetts, with Mrs. Kendrick.

FOR BETTER ROAD IN ULSTER TOWN

Supervisors, Judge and Doctor, at Sawkill Welfare Society Meeting, Tell How District is Being Held Back By Nearly Impassable Highway Leading To Woodstock—Committee Named To Present Matter.

Sawkill, June 4.—Sawkill Hall was the scene of an interesting meeting held Tuesday evening, called by the Welfare Society of the town of Kingston for the purpose of discussing ways and means of getting the people aroused for improving of the road from the Hurley-Sawkill road through the town of Ulster of the town of Woodstock, being a continuation of County Highway, 5,173. Judge James Jenkins presided, and spoke as to the necessity of good roads, and improvement to the one in question, and addresses were made by Dr. Mark O'Meara of this city, who told of the hesitancy doctors had to respond to calls to that section because of the terrible condition of the road. Supervisor Charlton and William Birmingham also spoke, telling of the benefits that would result to the section if the road was improved and made a county highway, and Rev. George J. Vanth, spoke, along the same lines. He said that within the past two years, seventeen different men had either called on him or written stating they would like to build bungalows in that section and spend the summer there, but after looking over the terrible condition of the road had decided to wait until the road had been placed in a passable condition. One man was a millionaire who was delighted with the location.

Sixty people attended the meeting all interested in having the matter brought before the Board of Supervisors and having that body adopt a resolution that public necessity demands that the road be improved by state and from the State Highway department. A committee of five members of the Welfare Society, of which Rev. Mr. Vanth is one, is to meet with Supervisors Charlton of Kingston, Brink of Ulster and Sagendorf of Woodstock, today, and formulate plans as to having the road improved. Two years ago for a long time the Stony Hollow road was closed and a detour was made over the Sawkill road to Woodstock, when the roadbed was cut to pieces and made almost impassable, and therefore now very greatly in need of permanent improvement.

ALIEN ENEMIES WORRY CANADA

Returned Soldiers Protest Against Foreigners Filling Positions They Need.

EXPECT FIGHT ON REPEAL

War Times Election Act Repeal Is Opposed—Educational Test May Be Made to Disfranchise Many of Teuton Origin.

Toronto.—Despite the approach of normal peace when there will be no more "enemies," the alien enemy question is still far from settled in Canada. Controversy surges around two points: first, is the alien enemy to be allowed to work? and, second, is he to be allowed to vote?

Conditions During War.
When the war was on the alien enemy worked. There were many objections to it, but labor was so scarce that the alien enemy who could work was rarely interfered with. And he made big wages. Now labor is not so scarce, and the alien enemy's job is more precarious. It is not employers who are interfering with him, nor is it government authority.

Pressure comes from the returned soldiers. When their verbal protests get no results or produce only formal assurances, which they know to be insincere, they have on occasion raided the factory, sometimes with surprising results. Then the alien enemy is ready out of a job.

As to the vote, the alien enemy lost his privilege during the war. Now the fight is as to whether it will be given back to him. The war times election act was based on the ground that the man who was not eligible to fight if needed wasn't eligible to vote, a rough and ready rule which served a purpose and it deliberately disfranchised all persons of alien enemy origin whether they had Canadian citizenship or not.

Fight Expected on Repeal.
Repeal of this act was expected to immediately follow the close of the war, but now the government is not anxious to disfranchise a large voting population which is not likely to support the government that originally disfranchised it. The parties are lining up for a real old-time party scrap on the issue. The fight will come in parliament on the introduction of the franchise act promised for an early date.

One proposal is that an educational test will be framed which will have the effect of disfranchising large numbers of former Canadian citizens of enemy origin.

Even if they get the vote back many of the alien enemies are going to be out of a job. And they would infinitely prefer wartime conditions when they had no vote but had a good job.

Not many German-born are affected, but there are several hundred thousand natives of the former Austrian empire in Canada. These cause the problem.

DOGS AND CATS ARE KILLED

German Civilians Interned in Concentration Camp in Australia Protested.

Sydney, Australia.—The 600 German civilians interned in a concentration camp at Holdsworth, near Sydney, recently killed all the dogs and cats in the compound in an attempt to compel the camp commandant to release the order temporarily stopping their supply of food and water. The Germans either ate the Australian dogs or pretended to have done so. Anyway they raised the heads of the animals on pikes.

The conflict arose over the arrest and confinement of two of the Germans for attempting to escape from the compound. The others went on strike to compel the commandant to release the two men, and when he cut off their food and water they killed the camp pets. Nine of the ringleaders were arrested and the demonstration ended when half rations were issued.

TAP WILL BREAK HIS BONES

Four-Year-Old Massachusetts Lad Suffers From Queer Malady—Otherwise Normal.

Pittsfield, Mass.—Charles Farrer Jr., 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farrer, broke his left thigh. He already has had 17 fractures of bones in the left leg and right arm. If he raises his arm suddenly in bed he will hear the bones snap. If he sits down hard he always has a break.

The child is otherwise normal, healthy and good natured. A chalky condition exists in the bones.

The boy's father is foreman of line construction for the Western Cable Telegraph company and is away from home most of the time. Mrs. Farrer and two children, Charles and Howard Farrer, 12, make their home with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Brown.

Comets are erratic members of the solar system moving in orbits. Stars may be classified as fixed stars and planets. The planets revolve about the sun, while the position of the fixed stars relative to other heavenly bodies seems unchanging.

WOMAN RULES RELIEF

Has Charge of Large Activities in Czecho-Slovakia.

Lady Muriel Paget Tells of Urgent Food Needs of Millions of People.

Paris.—A woman has been entrusted with the big task of organizing and administering relief work in one of Europe's new states—Czecho-Slovakia. Lady Muriel Paget, an Englishwoman whose devotion to the Czecho-Slovak cause is well known, arrived here from Prague after a month's tour of the new republic and outlined to the Associated Press correspondent her scheme for the relief of that country. Her plan, which has the approval of the Czecho-Slovak authorities, is to enlist a body of able and willing social workers to train the women of Czecho-Slovakia in social welfare work. Her ambition is to interest patriotic Czech women in America in the welfare of their native land.

There are, roughly, 5,000,000 people in Czecho-Slovakia today who have just enough to keep body and soul together. Lady Muriel said, "Against these who may be described as the rural population, there are 7,000,000 who are below the line of bare existence. They are, broadly speaking, the industrial and mining population."

"Food most of it from America," is now coming into the country through Trieste at the rate of about a hundred carloads a day; yet 400,000 people in eastern Slovakia are starving, and even in the better-situated parts the flour ration is only three pounds a head per month."

Lady Muriel explained how this situation is utilized by the Magyars in Hungary to sow discontent among the Slovaks.

"Practically all the intelligent classes have left Slovakia," Lady Muriel continued, "and it is during the present crisis and until their own people can be trained to do constructive and administrative work that the Czecho-Slovak government, and the people have asked me to organize temporary assistance and provide advice."

Lady Muriel will establish her relief headquarters at Pressburg, from which center the sixteen neighboring Slovakian districts will be fed, clothed and medically assisted.

IS RESULT OF SUPERSTITION

Pennsylvania Girl Loses Flowing Black Hair Through Old Italian Custom.

Ambler, Pa.—Pretty Sarah Paladine, nineteen, is minus her flowing black hair as the result, the police believe, of an old Italian love superstition.

A masked man wearing white gloves forced his way into her bedroom at midnight, snatched the girl out of bed and cut off part of her hair. He then bound her with a rope, snatched her with the hair he had shorn and scratched both her arms with a needle. He then cut off the remainder of her hair, searched all the drawers of the bureau in the room, but found nothing, and escaped when he heard a noise in another part of the house.

Members of the household say it is an Italian belief that if a lover can secure a portion of the hair of the girl he loves and can scratch her until the blood comes he will have her in his power.

Houseboat With Many Rooms

The equipment will include a gasoline engine, water tank, electric and refrigerating plants and a steam heating system. The boat will be used by members of the Miami Yacht club next season, and will carry 30 small boats for fishing.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Becker

THE AQUARIUM.

"I'm glad," said the goldfish whose name was Mr. Tokio Jones, "that our mistress understands us."

"I don't just know what you mean," said the other goldfish, whose name was Mr. Pekin Baxter, "but I am glad, too. At least I suppose I am. You had better tell me and then I'll be quite sure."

"If you don't know," said Mr. Tokio Jones, "I had better tell you. It would be well for you to know what a fine mistress we have."

"I know we have a fine mistress," said Mr. Pekin Baxter. "One morning she gives us nice fish food, which she says looks like a wafer or a piece of paper, or something like that."

"Anyway, it is good and we like it. And the next day she gives us a little mixed seed, which is a regular food for fishes."

"It is nice that she gives us one thing one day and something else the next. And another thing I like about the mistress—yes, now that I think about it, I can think of a number of things I like about her."

"Perhaps if you keep on telling me about the things you like about her you will guess what it is I have to say. Anyway, tell me what is the other thing you like about her which you were going to tell me when I interrupted you. Pray forgive me for interrupting," said Mr. Tokio Jones.

"I'll forgive you," said Mr. Pekin Baxter, as he waved a fin.

"Tell me what you were going to say," urged Mr. Tokio Jones.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Pekin Baxter, as he raised his dorsal fin in the center of his back, just where a good, well-behaved dorsal fin should be. "Oh, yes," he repeated, "I was going to tell you another thing which I liked about the mistress."

"Go ahead and tell it to me," said Mr. Tokio Jones.

"Well," said Mr. Pekin Baxter, "I was going to say that I like it because she doesn't give us so much to eat that we are made sick. She gives us a very little, and she gives it regularly, once a day, in the mornings."

"She sees that you get your share and that I get my share, and that you don't get mine, and that I don't get yours. For if she sees us going for each other's food she drives the one who is being greedy away."

"But so many people feed their goldfishes too much and it makes them sick. I once heard some one say that we were to be given as much as we could eat. The thing not to do was to let food stay on top of the aquarium which wasn't touched."

She Drives the One Who Is Being Greedy Away.

"But that is absurd. Of course, to leave so much food in the aquarium that it isn't all eaten is quite dreadful."

"That is giving us a great, great deal too much. It shows for itself that it is."

"But our mistress doesn't give us too much, anyway. She knows that those who give the fishes all they can possibly eat are giving their fishes too much."

"She had had trouble with us because we used to get sick, and she asked a keeper in the zoo, I believe, about us, and he said: 'Don't feed your fishes too much. Think of how tiny their tummies are. You must give them very little food each day, having Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for one kind of food, and the other days for the other kind of food. Feed them regularly, but a little.'"

"And our mistress has followed his advice and we are well and not sick from overfeeding."

"Well," said Mr. Tokio Jones, "I think our mistress is fine because whenever our water gets cloudy she changes it, puts the plants in again after she has washed them off, cleans the sand and we are put back into a fresh aquarium. She keeps us in a tank of water when she does this."

"She knows enough to have the water of the same strength as before. And it shows how good the fresh water is, for it bubbles, and that bubbling means it is full of the best kind of air for us."

"Yes, she understands her goldfishes. She does, and our lives are happy ones as the result of this big head and talk to our friends, the sand, who live here with us."

And Mr. Tokio Jones said he thought so, too.

Teacher—William Green, compare the adjective sick.

White—Sick, sicker, dead.

POOR LITTLE KITTEN.

Mrs. Flint came for a visit to her sister's house and her little niece, Charlotte, was delighted to see her.

"What because of the black kitten you had when I was here before?"

"Why, don't you know?" said Charlotte, much surprised.

"I haven't heard a word," replied the aunt. "Was he poisoned?"

"No, ma'am," said Charlotte. "Drowned."

"Died?"

"No, indeed."

"Died in any way?"

"No, ma'am."

"Well," said Mrs. Flint, "I can't guess, dear. What because of him?"

"He growled into a cat," said Charlotte.

DANCERS AIDED GIRL SCOUTS

Good Sized Audience. Saw Miss Bolce and Children Perform Finely at St. Mary's Despite Heat.

In spite of the extreme heat, there was a good sized audience at St. Mary's Hall last evening to see the exhibition of aesthetic, characteristic and solo dancing, given by Miss Bolce and pupils in the interest of the Girl Scout Camp movement. The program was a repetition of that given at the Opera House, and lost none of its charm and beauty by the repetition. In fact the entire performance given to raise money to make possible the Girl Scout Camp this summer, was an act of self-sacrifice and generosity far beyond the average, for it could not have been less than positively distressing for the children to do the dancing they did, back of the footlights, where the heat was even greater than on the floor of the auditorium. Yet the little folks danced as if they were really having a good time, as they were, for they were doing a kindness to others. And to Miss Bolce and the mothers and older sisters who assisted in the dressing room the Girl Scouts owe a big debt of gratitude. They showed their appreciation of all that Miss Bolce had done for them, by presenting her with a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses.

It is hoped by the members of the Girl Scout Council in the city, that the financial results of the exhibition of dancing will go far toward making possible the summer camp, for many of the girls in the city who belong to the Girl Scouts—and there are now some hundred such girls—will have no other summer outing than this camp.

As soon as it is known just what the proceeds from the benefit dance are, there will be made public further data regarding the Girl Scout Camp project. In the meantime any donations for this cause will be very thankfully received.

PLANS OF QUEEN ESTHER GIRLS

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the Queen Esther Circle of the St. James M. E. Church, held last evening, in the parlors of the church. During the business session the girls made their annual pledge toward a fund for the tuition and clothing of one little girl at the Watts-DePeyster Home at Tivoli, and also to the general support of the home. Definite plans for the fall work were made, and a very happy thought out scheme for summer time was voted into action. During the summer there will be circle meetings frequently, held in this way: Three of the members will hold the meeting on the lawn of the home of one of the group in the evening, to which all girls who have any interest in Queen Esther work and play or think they might have if they knew more about it and knew the girls in the circle better, will be cordially invited to be present, each girl attending, whoever she may be, paying 10 cents. The first of these circle meetings will be held next Monday evening on the lawn of the home of Miss Bertha DeGraff, 54, Lucas avenue, and it is hoped that there will be many girls present, for a good time is in store. The program last evening was both clever and very funny. It was called a "stunt" evening, and each girl was given a slip containing the name of some more or less noted personage, local or otherwise, whom they were to imitate. Last evening's meeting was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Robert L. Blackwell (deceased) was decorated for conspicuous gallantry in action near St. Souplet, France, October 11, 1918. When his platoon was almost surrounded by the enemy and his platoon commander asked for volunteers to carry a message calling for reinforcements, Private Blackwell volunteered for this mission, well knowing the extreme danger connected with it. In attempting to get through the heavy shell and machine gun fire this gallant soldier was killed. The address of his father is James B. Blackwell, R. F. D. No. 2, Hindles, N. C.

40-CAR CIRCUS AT NEW PARK

Three Ring Sells Photo Aggregation Makes Contracts For Use Of Kingston Amusement Park July 7 or 8—Advance Man Praised Cohen and Other Officials For Enterprise.

The Sells Photo Circus will show in this city at the Kingston Amusement Park on July 7 or 8, it was announced Wednesday afternoon by C. W. Finney, contract representative with the show, and Aaron Cohen, one of the boosters of the new amusement park. Mr. Finney arrived in this city Wednesday afternoon and was taken over the new grounds by Mr. Cohen. Later a contract was signed by both parties. The Sells Photo Company is a big western aggregation, having been playing for some time on the Pacific coast. It is invading the east for the first time this year. Decoration Day week it played in Boston and it has also had much success in Canada. The circus is a three ring show and carries 40 cars. According to Mr. Finney its main feature is its cleanliness and newness. Its next big feature, he claims, is its street parade. This circus carries something that no other circus does, four callopes—two steam and two electric. The parade starts and ends with a callope. There are also three large bands. The company also lays claim to the best collection of draft stock. In the main, according to Mr. Finney, the old style chariot races, etc., in the hippodrome track have been eliminated and in their places ladies will ride 27 handsome, managed horses.

Arranges Many Details.

Following the signing of the contract for the park Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Finney made contracts for feed, bread, water, and secured all necessary licenses. He also hopes to make arrangements with the officials of the Ulster and Delaware Railroad to run an excursion the day of the show. If the circus plays here on the seventh of July, it will be here over Sunday.

This is the first attraction to come to the new amusement park, which is located in the rear of Washington and Hurley avenues. Mr. Finney was very profuse in his praise of the grounds Wednesday afternoon and was also very much pleased with the courtesy extended to him while he was here. "I am very grateful," said he, "for the very courteous treatment extended to me by your mayor, the chief of police, Mr. Cohen and all others with whom I had dealings today. I have travelled all over the country and never received such treatment. I think the new grounds are ideal and it certainly was a live wire move on the part of the men who started it."

Was Jess Willard's Manager.

While here Mr. Finney renewed acquaintances with the Ricochono Brothers, whom he knew when with the Ringling's circus. Before going with the Sells Photo show, Mr. Finney managed Jess Willard's circus. The subscribers in the Kingston Amusement Park Association were highly pleased when informed that the first attraction had been secured for the new park. The grounds are within easy reach of both trolley lines and they believe the people of the city will appreciate this and other advantages. The committee in charge is seeking to book two or three other attractions.

Entomologist's First Duty.

When a new pest to any crop is brought to the attention of the entomologist and a remedy is asked, he must first know just what the insect is. He must know the group to which it belongs, the habits of this group, the exact classification of this individual species. It may be that it will prove to be a perfectly new species, in which case it must be accurately described and properly placed, so that other workers will know about it and about its relative ships and its possibilities for harm.

It is said that a party of twenty men in government employ, stopping at Cragsmoor Inn, are building a shack of slabs nearby in which it is said is to be installed a moonshiner still, after the plan used by the moonshiners of the south and of which moving pictures films are to be made. A delightful spot in which to be engaged in slabs grew on the mountain inside of in the valley and have to be carried up a steep road to produce films. Wonders of wonders never cease.

The board of trustees of the local schools at its recent meeting decided that the date for the sermon to the graduates will be Sunday, June 22, and the sermon delivered by Rev. W. S. Maines at the Reformed Church. Class Day will be held at the high school building, June 23. Commencement at the school auditorium June 24, and class reception on the evening of the 25th. Chili Peppers.

From data gathered from the various consular districts it is revealed that the growing of chili peppers is confined principally to the states of Vera Cruz, Aguascalientes, San Luis Potosi and Lower California, and the district around San Martin, in the state of Puebla. This latter district is found to be in normal times one of the most important for the cultivation of this product for export, the possibility for the crop being very extensive.

When It Is a Matter of a Home You Can't Make Up For Lost Time

If you wait and if, contrary to the unanimous judgment of authorities on prices and building costs, there should be some decline in the cost of building, you would still lose by not building now.

A Home is not merely an investment. It is one of the greatest comforts in life—and a day's delay in building is a day lost forever.

And There Is No Reason For Losing Time

It is folly to refuse to see changed conditions.

All living costs have advanced largely because of inflation of money and credits. And this situation will continue for years.

Building costs having advanced only half to two-thirds as much as other costs are comparatively low.

Building is now being resumed everywhere. In Brooklyn, the volume of building permits has already equalled the figures of 1913, and other cities show large gains.

Lumber shows a natural tendency to increase in price because of the coming demand.

BANKS FROM HAND GRENADES

As a reward to the thrifty of the school children of America, millions of hand grenades, manufactured to carry death and destruction to the German army, are to be distributed to all youthful students who have turned their earnings into War Savings Stamps during the summer vacation.

Lads who are paid for weeding tomatoes, hoeing corn, and lasses who receive remuneration for caring of the chickens and attending to sundry household duties during vacation should save their earnings by converting them into interest bearing War Savings Stamps.

Each grenade, when it reaches its ultimate owner, will have been transformed into a miniature savings bank which will hold pennies and dimes. Fifteen million of these grenades are at the disposal of the Savings Division of the U. S. Treasury Department, through the courtesy of the War Department.

The plan approved by the Treasury Department contemplates awarding a grenade savings bank to each child under 19 years of age who earns enough money to buy a War Savings Stamp during the vacation period, and who brings to his teacher when school opens in the fall, a story telling how the money was earned. Children over ten years would be required to earn enough money to buy two War Savings Stamps.

The distribution of the grenade banks will be entirely under the jurisdiction of the savings directors of the twelve Federal Reserve Bank districts.

TEST CATTLE FOR TUBERCULOSIS

New Federal Regulation Prohibits Interstate Shipment of Live Stock Without Tuberculin Test.

Beginning July 5, the shipment of cattle interstate without having them properly tuberculin tested will be prohibited—with a few exceptions—by a regulation issued by the secretary of agriculture. The enforcement of this new regulation will, it is believed, be of great assistance in preventing the further spread of tuberculosis among live stock, and having the work practically under state and federal supervision at all times will serve to bring about uniformity.

The department of agriculture, through its bureau of animal industry, is now actively co-operating with the state live stock sanitary officials and cattle owners of 42 states in the eradication of tuberculosis from live stock.

Recent legislation in several of the states has made it possible to proceed with the work where heretofore it has been impossible to do so. Federal funds available for the work are insufficient to meet present demands, and now that the cattle owners are finding the work to be of such advantage and importance the demands will increase rapidly.

Most activities are in the "accredited herd" work with the owners and breeders of pure bred herds of cattle who wish to free their herds from tuberculosis and have them placed on the list as "accredited."

AMERICA TOOK LEAD IN WAR GAS PRODUCTION

Output at Time of Armistice Ten Times Germany's.

EXCELLED IN GAS MASKS

Protection Twenty Times That of Foreign—Official Book Tells of Part American Industry Played in Providing Munitions for the American Army—Germans Could Have Won Way to Paris by Pushing Gas Supplies.

An official narrative of the part American industry played in providing munitions for the American army in the great war is unfolded in a book being prepared under the direction of Assistant Secretary Crowell of the war department, who was director of munitions during the close of hostilities. It is especially assigned by the president to direct the demobilization of material.

Advance pages of two sections of the book, those dealing with the chemical warfare material, offensive and defensive, and with the equipment for the signal corps, were made available, telling for the first time officially and completely not only of the stupendous scope of the projects, but of the difficulties and delays encountered and of the patriotic support of the war program given by American business generally.

The chemical warfare section tells of the original work done by the ordnance department toward obtaining toxic gases and anti-gas devices for the use of American troops. Subsequently this service became a separate branch of the army, under the direction of Maj. Gen. W. L. Sibert.

Among other secrets disclosed is the basis of frequent statements that at the time of the signing of the armistice the United States alone was producing gases for military use at a rate ten times in excess of the best production Germany could obtain. The Germans produced, with all their facilities, about six tons of mustard gas per day, while the United States was producing more than 60 tons a day and employing methods of production far more modern and efficient than anything attained by the enemy.

There were three plants at work on mustard gas, the Edgewood, Md., arsenal, which was manufacturing 30 tons a day by November 11 and had turned out 711 tons up to that day; the plant at Hastings, N. Y., which was to have a capacity of 50 tons a day and was ready to operate on November 11, and the 50-ton plant at the National Aniline and Chemical company at Buffalo, N. Y., which was 80 per cent complete. The chemical name of this compound is dichlorodithiophosphor and its popular name of mustard gas comes from its odor.

Production of Tear Gases.
Another element of the program was the production of tear gases, not deadly under ordinary circumstances, but designed to produce blindness, thus forcing the troops to use masks extensively. The foundation of these gases was bromine, the main supply of which was obtained from subterranean solutions found chiefly in the vicinity of Midland, Mich., where the government financed the sinking of seventeen brine wells under direction of the Dow Chemical company, which were prepared to supply 650,000 tons a year.

The other chief gases are the so-called "killers," the gases so deadly as to bring death unless safeguards are provided, chlorine and chloropicrin and phosgene. The only one of these produced commercially in the United States was chlorine, and even with that the supply was utterly inadequate to the demand.

A statistical table shows that 1,433 tons of chlorine in liquid form, 1,093 tons of chloropicrin, 420 tons of phosgene, and 190 tons of mustard oil were actually shipped overseas from January to September, 1918. In addition 500,000 75-millimeter shells loaded with chloropicrin and 150,000 loaded with mustard oil went abroad. The shipments including 224,000 phosphorus grenades as smoke bombs, and 18,600 phosgene bombs for Livens mortars. The capacity for filling shells and bombs on the day of the armistice exceeded 4,500,000 a month. At that time the practice of shipping gases abroad in bulk to be loaded into projectiles on the other side had been abandoned.

"We therefore shipped to Europe in bulk," the report states, "3,062 tons of gas or its equivalent. This was largely loaded into shells and used by the United States troops or those of the Allies. This quantity was sufficient to load 1,000,000 shells, two-thirds of them being of the 75-mm. calibre and the other one-third 155-mm., the total number being thought to be at least equal to the total number of gas shells fired by American troops in action. Thus, while American gas was not actually fired in American shells against the Germans, American gas was used against the enemy and American furnished at least as much gas as the foe.

"In addition to this we shipped 16,000 Livens drums loaded with phosgene. These contained 270 tons of gas, and some of them were fired at the enemy."

A table of casualties at the Edgewood arsenal shows that while only four men lost their lives from gas at this plant, 325 were injured, the bulk of them, 674, in mustard gas accidents. Taking up the defensive side of gas warfare material, the report shows that the American troops had "the best and most protective gas masks the world had seen; and they brought these with them by the millions." A total of 5,250,000 masks was produced, of which 4,000,000 were sent overseas, and the report states that these masks "gave twenty times the protection afforded by the best German gas masks."

"No American soldier was ever gassed due to the failure of an American gas mask," the report says, "and such gas casualties as did occur were due to the fact that the masks were not quickly enough utilized when the gas was thrown over, or because the soldier was unaware of the presence of gas."

Germans' Great Gas Blunder.
The original order from the department was for 25,000 masks to go with Pershing's first expedition, and the report tells in detail of the frantic efforts needed to procure them, efforts which actually counted for little, since the masks were not used for many months. At the time the expedition sailed, however, the British and French were not thoroughly acquainted with the gas warfare that was developing, nor had complete effective protection been worked out. In speaking of the first German gas attack upon Canadian troops at Ypres, the report says chlorine was used, and while protection of the troops from it later became an easy matter, "it was only lack of faith in their new weapons that prevented the Germans from winning the war with it then and there."

"Had they brought into the fighting a sufficient supply of this chlorine," the report continues, "they might have gassed their way to Paris in short order. As it was, they brought to the line an almost negligible supply, and they themselves were inefficiently protected to go through their own gas and follow up the attack. By the time they were able to renew gas warfare the French and British had equipped themselves with masks which were sufficient to protect men against chlorine."

The report tells of the development of gas masks, from the original gauze pads soaked in chemical to the "box respirator" which came into general use. The Americans and British employed a double-protection mask, the facepiece being gas tight, but, to insure against leaks, a mouthpiece and nose clip being supplied also. Insuring protection even in a torn mask. The first order was for 1,100,000 of these masks for the American forces.

Subsequently, to provide greater comfort for the men, it was decided abroad that a single-protection mask would be sufficient, the risk of leaks, masks being regarded as preferable to the discomfort of the double-protection type. When this decision was received, however, on this side, it was decided to carry forward experiment with new types of masks which would give both comfort and security. This was carried forward to a point where a squad of 150 men in the field-testing section almost lived in their gas masks, working, playing baseball, digging trenches, fighting sham battles day and night in which actual gas grenades were employed, and exposing themselves to the heaviest concentrations of the deadly gases under all conditions.

Careful Tests.
"The work of this section," the report says, "even went so far in the case of the later designs as to include a test where six men worked, played, and slept in the masks for an entire week, only taking them off for 30 minutes at each meal time, and each day entering high concentration of the most deadly gases without injury to the wearers."

The chief ingredients of the protection against gases is carbon, which absorbs the gas instantaneously. Coconut shells formed the best supply of carbon that could be found, and the known world was raked by American representatives to secure what was needed. In addition enormous quantities of fruit pits and other nut shells were secured, and the national campaign to increase the supply of these ingredients met with great success. The slogan "Eat more coconuts!" the report states, increased the consumption in the country more than 100 per cent in a very brief period, and in October, 1918, the government was obtaining from all sources about 150 tons per day of coconut shells. The fruit canneries of the Pacific coast supplied 500 tons a day in apricot, peach, and cherry pits and walnut shells, and the campaign led by the American Red Cross to induce the public to contribute fruit pits and nut shells was in full swing when the armistice was signed. It is estimated that 4,000 tons of material was collected by this means.

Among the weeks designed and produced were 377,861 horse masks, which were easier of manufacture, as a horse breathes always through his nose and is not as liable to gas poisoning as man. Other defensive equipment produced in large amounts included duckboard blankets to seal the doors of underground shelters from gas, and oil cloth, underclothing and gloves to protect from mustard oil. There were shipped also 45,000 special signal bombs to give warning of gas and more than 50,000 fans to blow the vapor out of trenches and dugouts.

Find Brother's Grave.
Ray Noel of Horton, Va., member of Company B, 137th Infantry had the good experience of finding the grave of his brother, William Bryan Noel, William was reported missing October 2, and no other word had been received concerning him. Ray thought his brother had been involved here. He was engaged in the work of finding the graves in the Argonne when the brother's grave was found.

WORK OF SIGNAL CORPS IN WAR

Official Reports Show Wonderful Service Rendered During Struggle.

HAD 96,000 MILES OF WIRE

Special Form of Wire Made and Many Telephone and Telegraph Stations Were Set Up in France.

Washington.—Official reports on signal corps equipment for the war, made public, show that one special form of telephone wire, unknown to commercial use before the war, was being turned out at the rate of 20,000 miles a month at a cost of nearly $6,000,000 when the armistice was signed.

The American telephone and telegraph system in France totaled 96,000 miles when the fighting ended, this being the semi-permanent installations. When fighting was at its peak the corps was approximating the use of 68,000 miles of outpost wire a month in addition, one development of the war being the necessity of two-wire circuits for front-line operations to prevent the enemy from "listening" in on the old style single wire equipment. Wire wastage was enormous, as it had to be abandoned whenever an advance was made.

Of Special Design.
There had been set up in France last November 282 American telephone exchanges with 14,986 lines reaching to 8,969 stations. Even the telephone instruments used were of special design, combining both telephonic and telegraphic communication, and the production of these in the quantity needed was a problem in itself. At the close of hostilities the United States had 138 fully equipped telegraph stations in France, which were handling a daily average of 43,845 messages of 80 words each during the last days of the fighting or within about 5,000 of the peak load.

An instance of the enormous demand that developed for field glasses, lenses for which before the war largely were obtained from Germany, lies in the work of the Bausch and Lomb company of Rochester, N. Y., which beginning with a capacity of 1,800 pairs of field glasses a year in 1914 had reached an output of 3,500 pairs a week in November, 1918, and was then aiming toward an output of 3,500 pairs a week by January, 1919. Similar expansions of facilities were necessary in many other plants. The requirement of the forces in France for the six-power artillery glass alone was approximately 100,000 pairs and 100,000 pairs were shipped from the United States.

Motion-Picture Photography.
The report devotes considerable space to discussion of the progress made in motion-picture photography during the war. By these means, it is pointed out, the signal corps has created "a new kind of history of the war, a history written entirely in pictures for future generations to scan."

Carrier pigeons, never before employed extensively in the American army, were widely used in France. More than 15,000 were purchased and trained for that service and the report adds that "in actual use on the field the pigeons delivered more than 95 per cent of the messages entrusted to them, flying safely through the heaviest shell and gas barrages."

PAYS COOL $11,500 FOR VASE

Parish Watson Takes Fancy for Chinese Art of Seventeenth Century.

New York.—Oriental art treasures from the collection of the late Charles Stewart Smith came to the final session of their sale in the American Art galleries one day recently, and the leading price of $11,500 was paid by Parish Watson for a tall, brilliant sang-de-bœuf vase of the Lung Yao genre and bearing a seventeenth century date of the Kang-hsi era. It is said to have been the property of the late Captain Brinkley, U. S. A., a noted connoisseur in Japan, before being bought by Mr. Smith. A tall powder-blue vase of the same era went to J. Volman for $900. J. Gertz paid $750 for a small sang-de-bœuf vase of the Lung-Yao genre and Kang-hsi era. The session yielded $22,167 and the whole sale $27,016.

USE TRUCK TO MAKE MAPS

Americans Turn Out 10,000 an Hour to 300 by French in Interesting Experiments.

Paris.—The Twenty-ninth engineers of the American expeditionary force are conducting some interesting experiments in map making and reproducing in the field. With a French truck as a printing and lithographic establishment they have succeeded in turning out 10,000 copies of field maps an hour. The French and British are taking a keen interest in the American outfit, as they have need a railway train for such work and their best outfit has been about 300 copies an hour. Furthermore, a railway train is limited in operation to available track, and while there is virtually no limit to the mobility of the truck.

BOY SCOUTS

SCOUTS IN INDIA GROWING

A letter from the director of the boy scouts of Mysore in India to national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America says in part as follows: "Our strength has increased to about forty troops with a membership of over nine hundred. I have had fine scoutmaster training classes at Mysore City and at Bangalore, with a model troop of scouts for demonstration purposes."

"Scout work for Indian boys is developing rapidly all over the country. In Calcutta we have the Boy Scouts of Bengal, which is doing good work both under Indian and European leadership. The great native state of Baroda and the British Central provinces want to start boy scout work, and the government of the native state of Travancore is now considering the introduction of scouting among its boys on the plan of our Mysore organization."

"We have, however, a long way to go, as there are over thirty million boys of scout age in India and we have difficulties here that are unheard of in America—for instance, at least a hundred languages, very deep-seated religious divisions and the ever-present caste question—all of them tremendous challenges to the spirit of the fourth scout law."

SCOUTS SAVE DROWNING BOY.

Ernest H. Collins, Jr., of Denver, 7 years old, escaped drowning in City Park lake due to the presence of mind of two Denver boy scouts who effected his rescue after two gardeners at the park had failed to drag the boy from the cold water.

The quick work which the two scouts, Robert Plens, 16, and Leroy Hoyt, 17, displayed in the rescue is a simple example of the value of the boy scout training.

The Collins boy had been skating and went upon too thin ice. Plens and Hoyt happened to be passing in a motor car. Seeing the Collins boy's predicament, the scouts rushed to his aid. They cut their shoe strings, and making a rope of their coats, they made a life line for the boy. He took hold of it and was pulled to safety. The boys then wrapped him in a blanket.

BOY SCOUTS AFTER THE DIRT.

Topeka boy scouts are to become Junior health officers of the city, in cooperation with the city health department.

The following pledge will be signed by all scouts who become members of the Topeka health service:

"In assuming the duties in the Topeka health service, I agree to hold myself responsible for the distribution of all notices and literature in my district requested by the commissioner of health."

"I further agree to gather any information that may be desired and to report on the health and sanitary situation in my district when asked to do so."

"I agree to assist the Topeka health department in every way I can, with the understanding that I will not be called upon to perform any duty that will interfere with my school work or endanger my health."

MANCHURIA'S SCOUT GREETINGS.

The second detachment of the Boy Scouts of Manchuria, located at Harbin, has sent this letter to national headquarters in this country:

"Dear Brothers: The second detachment of the Boy Scouts of Manchuria sends to you from far Russia warm greetings and cordial congratulations at the birthday of the great teacher of truth, peace and good will towards men. Let the new year be a triumph of justice and happiness for all the unfortunate of the world. 'Do not allow your fatherland to have any more tears in its light eyes. Let the standard of the white rider rise higher in the world.' This is signed by Commander of Detachment Kossiakoff."

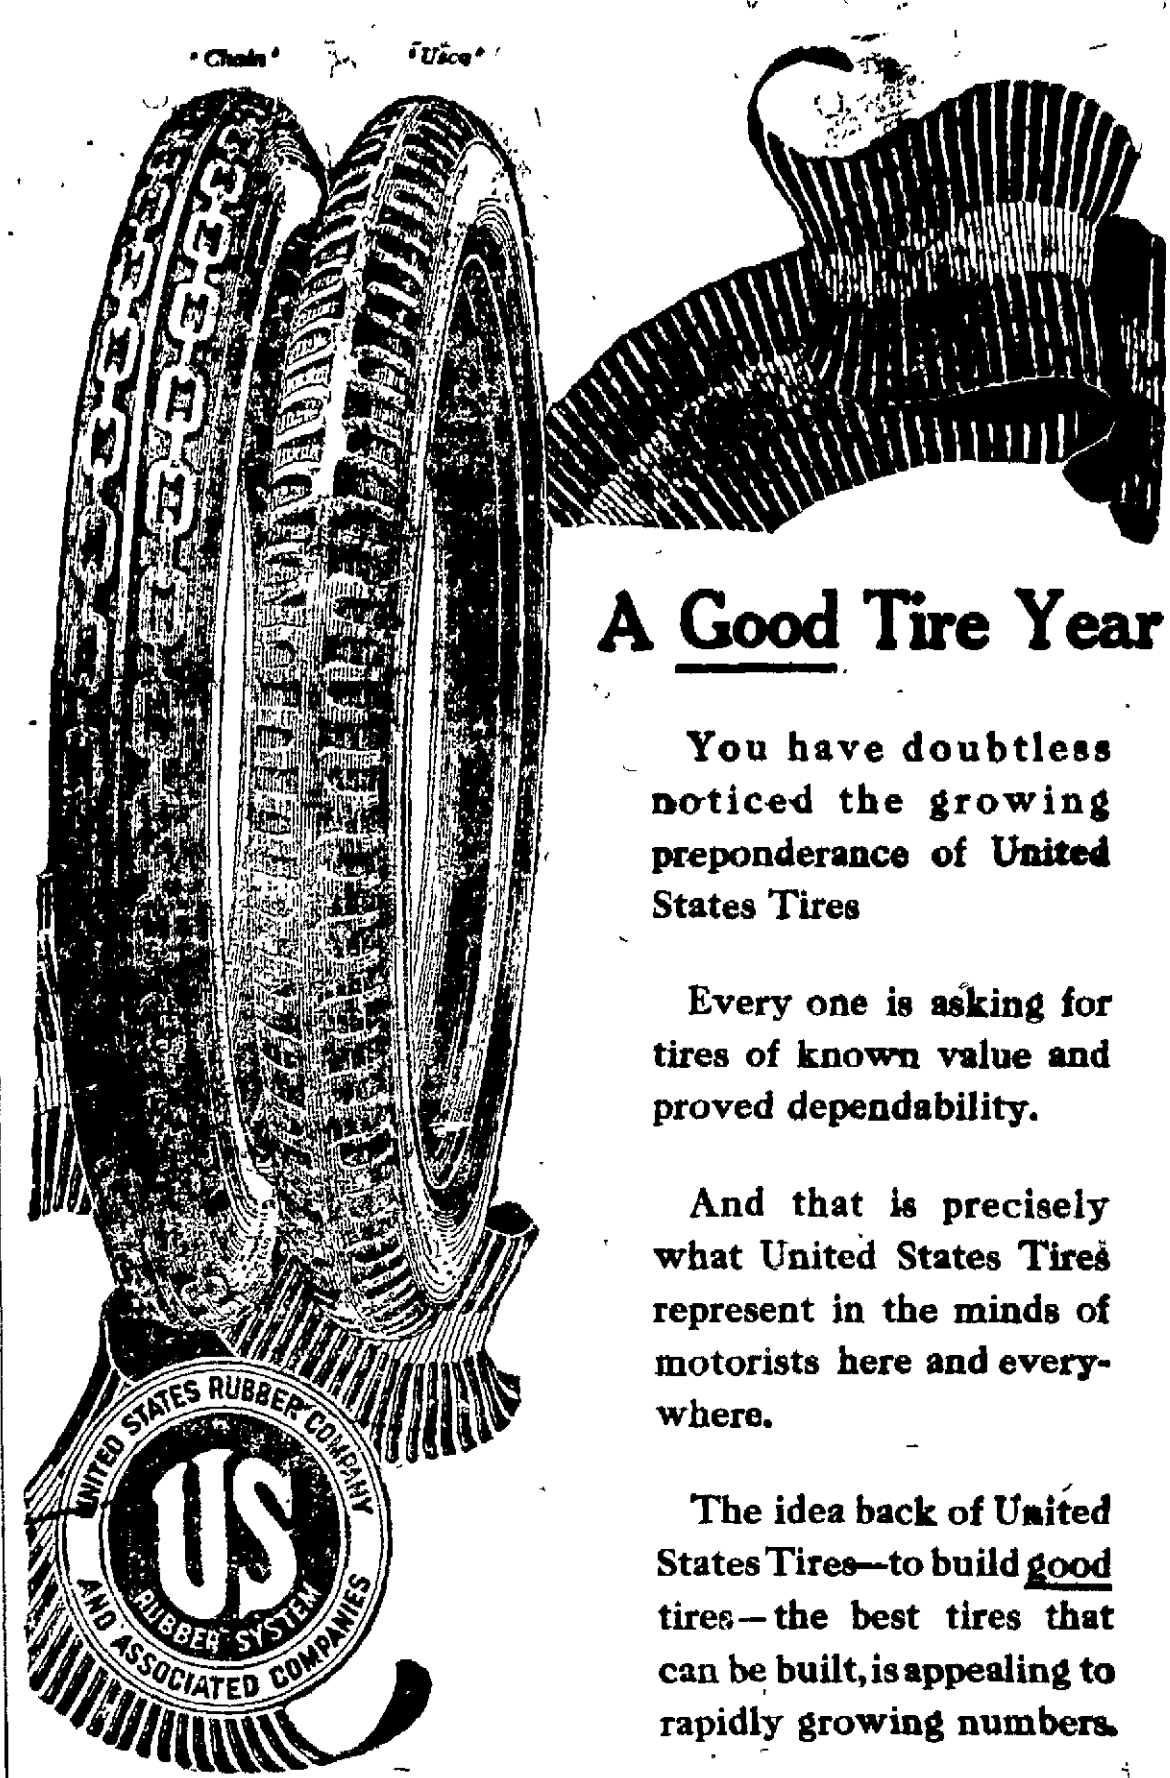

SCOUTS TO PLANT WALNUTS.

Letters supporting Chief Scout Executive James E. West's decision that boy scouts should help the government this spring by planting black walnut trees have come to national headquarters from George D. Pratt, New York state conservation commissioner, and from Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological society.

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

The New Orleans Red Cross has been working on the recreation of soldiers' families. Boy scouts assisted by adjusting the buttons on the military blouse.

Among "good turns" reported by a freedman (Pa.) troop of boy scouts are: Assisted the doctors and nurses in the Spanish influenza epidemic; donated ten baskets of provisions to the widows and orphans; assisted in picking 11 bushels of berries for I. O. O. F. orphanage at Sunbury, Pa.

A WAY TO BEAT THE PRESENT HIGH COST OF FAMILY'S ICE

Ulster County Home Bureau to Exhibit in Store Windows an Iceless Refrigerator---Its Many Uses.

Do you use an iceless refrigerator to save part of your ice bills? An iceless refrigerator costs little to make and nothing to operate. Every home should have one this summer, especially to keep the milk and butter from spoiling. It will keep meats, fruits, vegetables, milk and butter cool. It can also serve as a cooler for drinking water. It is a very good plan to have a refrigerator for milk and butter alone, as these foods so readily absorb odors from other foods.

Iceless Refrigerator to Be Exhibited in Store Window.
In order to place this most useful and inexpensive device before you, the Ulster County Home Bureau is to carry on a sort of campaign which opens Tuesday morning, June 11th, with an exhibit in Charles Warren's store window, Fair street, and Canfield Supply Co.'s store window, Strand. These exhibits will show an iceless refrigerator and its many uses.

Demonstration at Home Bureau Office On Saturday, June 11, at the Home Bureau office, 43 Crown street, corner John street, demonstrations of the iceless refrigerator, showing how to make and use one will be given. These demonstrations will begin at 10:00 a. m., 2:00 p. m. and 4:00 p. m.

An iceless refrigerator is on exhibition at the Home Bureau office all during office hours (8 until 5) and you are urged to inspect it and have its construction and use explained to you at any time.

Iceless Refrigerator to Be Given Away.
During this campaign opening Tuesday, June 11th and closing Monday, June 16th, a contest will be carried on under the auspices of the Ulster County Home Bureau. The prize will be an iceless refrigerator.

It will be given to the person sending in the best menu for one day for a family of four (2 adults and 2 children) using the amount of milk a day that such a family should use 1 1/2 pints of milk for each child and one pint for each adult. The rules of the contest will be published in a later edition of this paper.

There is little doubt but that his new venture will meet with success. The new business venture of Mr. Grogan is in no way connected with his undertaking business, the undertaking business being conducted as heretofore and given the same careful and personal attention.

Mr. Grogan's garage is located at No. 37 Clinton avenue and his telephone call is 545, where all calls for auto and taxi cab service will be given prompt attention at all hours of the day and night.

A FARMERS' FUND.
War Time Organization Becomes "The Farmers' Fund, Inc."

The Patriotic Farmers Fund, which loaned about $800,000 in small amounts to New York State farmers during the war has been reorganized into the Farmers' Fund, incorporated and made permanent.

The new corporation is capitalized at $400,000, fully paid, and has a surplus of $100,000. Marc W. Cole, former secretary of the Patriotic Farmers Fund, has been elected president of the new organization.

During the war, some 5,000 New York state farmers took advantage of the credit offered by the Fund, the loans averaging a little over $100 each. Based upon data compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, it is estimated that these loans resulted in the production of over $5,000,000 of additional foodstuffs at a time when the national slogan was: "Food will win the War."

War-time experience showed that the fund filled a real need in supplying credit to small farmers and farm tenants who had no regular banking connections.

As heretofore, loans are made through agent banks upon the recommendation of a local committee. All applications must be countersigned by two members of the local committee, but the committee does not assume any personal responsibility for any loan.

The scope of the loans has been widened so as to permit the purchase of farm machinery and equipment as well as of livestock, and money will still be available for seeds, fertilizers and labor essential to efficient crop production.

The office of the fund have been removed from Ulster to Alliance Bank Building, Rochester, N. Y.

Billions of Lead Pencils.
The world's product of lead pencils probably amounts to nearly ten thousand millions a year, half of which are made from American-grown cedar. The United States makes about 700,000,000 a year, or more than eight pencils for each of its inhabitants.

Leo V. Grogan, the well known undertaker and embalmer of the firm of Grogan & Scherer, at 57 Clinton avenue, has announced through the columns of The Freeman the establishment of an auto and taxi cab service for the convenience of the public under the name of the "Rapid Auto Service." Mr. Grogan has several large and well equipped cars, both open and closed, which are being used for the convenience of passengers, and also handily appointed limousines for funerals, weddings, parties, etc., and is prepared to meet the public demands for auto service at all hours of the day and night for both city, suburban and long distance trips.

Mr. Grogan has distinguished with the idea of using the regular taxi, and instead of driving his customers the long and tortuously equipped stretchers, at the regular taxi rates. Mr. Grogan is one of Kingston's most successful young business men and

A part of the Hippocratic oath is as follows: "Whatever, in connection with my professional practice, or not in connection with it, I may see or hear in the lives of men which ought not to be spoken abroad, I will not divulge, as reckoning that all such should be kept secret." This oath is respected by every court in the world, and rarely indeed has it ever been broken by a reputable physician.

A WAY TO BEAT THE PRESENT
HIGH COST OF FAMILY'S ICE

Ulster County Home Bureau to Exhibit in Store Windows an Iceless Refrigerator—
Its Many Uses.

Do you use an iceless refrigerator to save part of your ice bills?

An iceless refrigerator costs little to make and nothing to operate.

Every home should have one this summer, especially to keep the milk and butter from spoiling. It will keep meats, fruits, vegetables, milk and butter cool. It can also serve as a cooler for drinking water. It is a very good plan to have a refrigerator for milk and butter alone, as these foods so readily absorb odors from other foods.

Iceless Refrigerator to Be Exhibited in Store Window.

In order to place this most useful and inexpensive device before you,

the Ulster County Home Bureau is to carry on a sort of campaign which opens Tuesday morning, June 11th, with an exhibit in Charles Warren's store window, Fair street, and Can-field Supply Co.'s store window,

Strand. These exhibits will show an iceless refrigerator and its many uses.

Demonstration at Home Bureau Office

On Saturday, June 14, at the Home

Bureau office, 42 Crown street, corner John street, demonstrations of the iceless refrigerator, showing how to make and use one will be given.

These demonstrations will begin at 10:00 a. m., 2:00 p. m. and 4:00

p. m.

An iceless refrigerator is on exhibition at the Home Bureau office all during office hours (8 until 5) and you are asked to inspect it and have its construction and use explained to you at any time.

Iceless Refrigerator to Be Given Away

During this campaign opening

Tuesday, June 11th and closing Monday, June 16th, a contest will be carried on under the auspices of the Home Bureau. The prize will be an iceless refrigerator.

It will be given to the person sending in the best menu for one day for a family of four, (2 adults and 2 children) using the amount of milk a day that such a family should use.

12 pints of milk for each child and one pint for each adult. The rules of the contest will be published in a latest edition of this paper.
